

50 Ways To Make A Guy Fall In Love With You

By

Dating Logic

1. Talk About His Hobbies Often

When you talk to him about his hobbies, he will feel endeared to you. You will make him feel as though you are interested in what he loves doing with his free time. No matter how silly some of those hobbies may be, you should talk to him about them and show genuine interest.

2. Cook For Him

Guys love it when a girl is willing to cook for him. It makes him feel very special. You don't have to be the best cook in the world. For a lot of guys, the joy is not so much in how good the food is but in the effort. These are the moments you will learn what works and what doesn't. If he shows a particular love for a particular dish, the more you prepare it, the more he loves you for it.

3. Invite Him to Take Trips With You

Taking a trip together can help to build a lot of rapport. This is the kind of rapport that isn't easily experienced when going on normal dates. A trip to another state, country or adventure, can create a bonding experience with a guy. You will learn a lot more about each other the more time you spend with each other away from the normal grind of regular life.

4. Laugh At His Jokes Often

Most guys like to think that they are funny or humorous in some way. A guy who tries to make you laugh is a guy who is trying to impress you and make you feel good. Laugh at his jokes even when they don't seem funny. Smile when he says something that may not be that funny but you are acknowledging. It emboldens him to want to be better and make you laugh even harder in the future.

5. Show Weakness

Don't be afraid to show your fearful side or a side of you that isn't so sure about everything. A guy can easily fall in love with a girl he knows has vulnerabilities because he will feel a stronger need to protect her and to encourage her. This is an emotional investment. The more of an emotional investment he has in you, the more likely he will fall in love with you down the road.

6. Touch Him Often

Using touch creates a strong sense of familiarity. You should work on touching him more often as you get to know each other. Keep it light. Touch an arm or a knee. Touch his lower back or the inside of his upper arm. The simpler the touches and less intrusive are, the easier it will be for him to let go and let down his guard. Once a guy lets down his guard, he is very open to falling in love.

7. Be Unavailable From Time To Time

You don't want to make it a habit of always being unavailable but do try to make yourself unavailable from time to time. Guys love the feeling of having to woo you. If you are always available to him, he may get complacent. However, when you make yourself unavailable from time to time, it increases his desire to see you. The more he wants to see you, the more likely he will fall in love with you.

8. Compliment Him Less

It can be easy to shower your guy with compliments because you want him to know just how much you like him. Avoid this. The more sparing you are with your compliments, the more desire he will feel to want to earn them. Since you are sparing with them, when you do give him a compliment, it means a lot more to him. The more he tries to win your favor, the more emotionally invested he will become in you.

9. Get Close To His Mother

If he has a good relationship with his mother, work hard to win her favor and develop a true friendship with her. The more he notices the chemistry you share with his beloved mother, the more he feels good about choosing you. The affection that he already has toward his mother will start moving toward you as well. The more affection he has for you, the more likely he will fall in love with you.

10. Disagree With Him

Never stop yourself from giving him a differing opinion even though you may be worried that doing so would upset him. A guy needs to hear that his opinions aren't always agreed with. He may be unhappy with that at first but in time he will learn to respect you for that. By setting yourself apart from what he is used to, he will want to be around you more and experience that blatant honesty.

11. Face His Fears With Him

Guys may try to act macho. However, they all have fears. You will know what his fears are with time. Being able to help him through his fears can make him start to trust you deeply. If he has a fear that keeps him from doing something or from living a fuller life, be there for him and show him that you can be his support to help him get through it.

12. Beat Him At Something He Is Good At

It could be a sport, trivia, humor, etc. If he is particular good at something, learn it and beat him. If he thinks he is the best driver in the world, you may be able to show him that he isn't. If he feels like he can beat anyone at trivia, you may be able to prove him wrong. He will not feel so invincible when he gets beat by you. This makes you dangerous. Danger is a very strong emotion that often leads to love.

13. Give Him Space

Don't become one of those girls that becomes so attached that you have to be with him at all times. Giving him his space allows him the opportunity to pursue other goals and hobbies. A guy would not only appreciate a girl that does this but he would relish her. Ironically, the more willing you are to give him his adequate space, the more excited he will be to be with you when he is done.

14. Boost His Ego

Guys love it when a girl boosts his ego. He wants to hear that he is good at something or that he is appreciated for something. Telling him this from time to time helps to make him feel like he is worth a lot to you. It also gives him a heightened sense of security and self-assurance. He will want to be around the person that boosts his ego and makes him feel so good.

15. Listen to Him

It can be easy to forget that your guy has emotions as well. He may not be that outright with them but he does feel them. When he speaks, listen to what he has to say. Avoid judging what he says based on what you believe. Truly let him see that his opinions matter to you. The more capable you are at listening to him without judging him, the more likely he will want to share more with you in the future.

16. Encourage Him

If he has a dream, encourage him to go for it. Whenever it seems like he is losing hope or motivation, remind him about his dream and encourage him to keep going. The more encouraging you are to him, the more he will feel like you are both a team. His trust in you will grow implicitly. He may begin to look at you as his rock and may require your presence to keep him motivated.

17. Get Him To Do Things With You That He Normally Wouldn't

Bring out the sense of adventure in him by being daring. You will need to make him feel like he is alive with you. A guy can easily fall into the monotony of life. Get up, brush his teeth, have breakfast, go to work or school and repeat the next day. Introduce activities into his life that he would have never thought to do on his own. The more zestful you are, the more positively infectious you become to him.

18. Be Inventive With Your Sex Life

If you stick with the same old sex acts, it can get boring and stale. Change things up. Start learning about ways that you can keep your sex life inventive and fun. When a guy doesn't know what to expect from his girl, he becomes that more excited to sleep with her. Have fun with this. Don't be afraid to make mistakes or look awkward. The more varied it is, the closer you become.

19. Flirt Often

When some people get into a relationship, they think it is time to stop flirting and just get serious. Big mistake. Never stop being fun. Never stop the flirting. The flirting gives your relationship the looseness it needs to remain relevant and non-monotonous. The more you remember to flirt and have light-hearted fun with each other, the easier it will be for him to fall in love with your charm and thereby you.

20. Embrace Silence

Some girls just don't like silence when the guy is around. She thinks that there always has to be something going on, something being said. Don't fall into this trap. Silence can work wonders on a guy's psyche and alleviate pressure. It lets him know that you are secure enough in yourself that he doesn't have to always be on. This kind of relief can make guys feel incredibly secure and stress free.

21. Let Him Cry

Sometimes, guys just want to let out a good cry. They often hide it because society tells them that they are weak if they cry. Allow your boyfriend to cry. Give him that feeling that he can be that open with his emotions. If he is dealing with something, let him know that he can let it all out without judgment. A guy like this will know that you are his home, he can come to you. This assurance is incredibly powerful.

22. Set Boundaries

Never allow him to get away with something that you feel was insulting to you or upsetting. If you do this, he will keep repeating it. When you set boundaries on how he can treat you or address you, you have laid down the law to an extent. It allows him to comport himself in a way that is both respectful to you and to himself. It also shows strength. A guy tends to fall for a woman who shows strength.

23. Become A True Friend To His Closest Friends

The more his closest friends like you, the more they will want you around. The more approval he sees that you are getting from his friends, the more willing he will be to let himself fall in love with you because he sees a future with you. A guy needs to feel like he can bring you around his friends without fear. You need to be that person that makes both him and his friends feel comfortable around you.

24. Keep Your Life Together Private

Some girls like to reveal everything about their relationship with their boyfriends to their friends, family or all over social media. Avoid being this girl. When you are able to keep certain facets of your relationship with him private, he will feel like he can trust you. As long as he knows that you are able to respect the privacy and sanctity of the relationship, he may want to reveal more and more of himself.

25. Keep Going On Dates

You need to keep going on dates even if it means that you have to keep coming up with new things to do. When you become complacent in the relationship and forget about dating, you are already making it seem as though your relationship has run its course and there is nothing new to experience with each other. This leads to complacency. He will fall in love with a girl that is willing to keep dates interesting.

26. Love His Pet

If he has a pet, start loving it. A guy who has a pet will typically be attached to it. It may have been company to him on some lonely nights before you showed up. The more willing you are to do things with him with both him and his pet, the more he cares about you. When you do nice things for his pet like bring treats or pay it special attention, he will notice and will feel like you both have a bond.

27. Have Great Friends

A guy will typically judge you based on the kind of friends you hang around. Even if he may like you, if he feels like you have selfish and obnoxious friends, it will be hard for him to let himself fall in love with you. He will always feel like he is falling in love with not just you but a brood of undesirables and this can be very challenging. The better your friends, the less guarded he will be about falling in love with you.

28. Be Reliable

In an emergency, he needs to know and be assured that he can rely on you. Be willing to be there for him when something happens that wasn't expected. Be prepared to go out of your way to be helpful when he needs you the most. A guy will remember this.

29. Get Him To Reveal Something New About Himself Often

People get into relationships and allow themselves to believe that they know everything there is to know about their partner. You shouldn't be this way. Make it a habit to get him to tell you something new about himself as often as you can. This makes him feel like you are truly intrigued by him. A part of his mind will feel as though it is one with your own because of how well you are getting to know him.

30. Change Your Look Often

You may think that the look he met you with is how he wants you to remain. However, guys often fall in love with the kind of girl who is constantly changing things up in terms of her appearance. It makes him feel like he is dating someone new each time and often creates a sense of freshness to the relationship.

31. Pamper Him Every So Often

It shouldn't always be about you. You should also pamper him every so often. Get him those tickets to that game that you know that he has been looking forward to. Buy him a year-long membership to his favorite club or pastime. Take him on a cruise. All of this makes him feel special. He becomes very happy in the fact that you are invested in making him happy as well and he can easily fall for this.

32. Be Playful

Being playful with each other takes you back to how it was when you were both kids and you didn't have a care in the world. It allows the laughter to flow and the sense of just letting go and being free to set in. This is such a stress reliever in relationships and life in general. Being the girl that he knows he can be playful with gives him comfort in knowing that things don't always have to be so serious.

33. Be Tolerant Of His Behavioral Quirks

As long as these quirks aren't detrimental or harmful to your person or to the dynamic of your relationship, you should try to be tolerant of his minor behavioral quirks. He is not perfect. No guy is. You have to realize that he may have some habits that could generally irritate. However, if you are able to be patient and accept him for who he is, quirks and all, he will grow to strongly appreciate you.

34. Take The Wheel

This is both figurative and literal. Take the wheel sometimes and let him sit back on the driver's seat. Take the wheel in your relationship by also taking on some responsibilities that may be generally regarded by society as the male role. In other words, avoid fitting yourself into a role. When you are willing to take the wheel, you are not putting him or yourself in any constrained gender roles.

35. Sleep Over Less Often

You may become so attached to a guy that you want to spend every night sleeping over at his place. Try to avoid this. A guy may get so comfortable with this arrangement that he may find it hard to truly miss you during the day. Give him some nights on his own so that he can actually miss you by his side and further long to be with you.

36. Get Mad

You don't have to be screaming expletives at him. However, try not to hold back your anger if you truly feel it. Keep it controlled but don't be afraid to show it. A guy wants to know that he has a woman who can react to something she finds unpleasant. There is a visceral reaction he has when he gets to see his girl mad. It allows him to respect you more and know what the boundaries are.

37. Work With Him On His Hobby Or Pastime

If he is willing and open to having you partake in his pastime, be willing to get in there and do it. When you show him through your actions that you are willing to get involved in something that he is so passionate about, he will fall in love with your dedication. As long as you are being sincere in your approach, he will think of you fondly and will want to spend even more time with you.

38. Take Care Of Your Health

A guy will easily fall for a girl with healthy habits. When he notices how much you care about maintaining a healthy lifestyle, it may even inspire him to want to be like you. As long as you are not obsessive with trying to force your healthy lifestyle on him, a guy can become quite enamored with this.

39. Make Him Laugh Often

Guys love to laugh just as much as girls do. A guy who is laughing is a guy who is in a good place emotionally. If he knows that whenever he is around you, there is a good chance that you are going to try to make him laugh in some way, he will often want to be around you. The more he is around this kind of spirit, the more likely he will fall in love with you.

40. Be Grateful For His Kindness

Some girls get so used to being with their guy that they forget to thank him when he does something kind for them. She may think that she doesn't have to say it anymore or even acknowledge it because that is her guy. Well, a guy still wants to know that what he does is appreciated and he isn't being taken for granted. Show gratitude to him every time and his affection for you will grow and grow.

41. Teach Him Responsibility

It could be responsibility with his finances or with his well-being in general. You would have to teach through example. When he sees the value you place on personal responsibility, he will be tempted to do the same. You make him a better person without having to be condescending or overbearing. This will often make a guy fall in love with you because you are helping him grow as a person.

42. Talk Him Up In Public

Don't be shy in letting people know how great your guy is when you are in public or at gatherings. You don't have to overdo it but you should tell others about something great he did or a great quality he has. The more you talk him up and praise him in public or amongst mutual friends, the more he feels a stronger sense of gratitude to you which could easily lead to him falling in love with you.

43. Support His Decisions

His decisions may not always be the right ones but allow him to discover that for himself. If he makes a decision, support him in it and let it play out. You don't always have to be the one to direct him to what you believe is the right way to go. Let him stumble and learn. The more he does this, the more he learns and matures. He will grow to love your willingness to support his decisions, good or bad.

44. Remind Him Of His Uniqueness

Remind him of what makes him so special to you and why his individuality is so unique. People in relationships often get so complacent that they forget to do this. His individuality is a part of him. The more you remind him of its uniqueness and appeal, the more willing he will be to fall in love with you because you would be showing him how much you see him as a special entity compared to others.

45. Encourage Him To Have A Pastime Or Continue With It

A guy can get into a relationship with a girl and ignore what he loved doing with his pastime. He lets it go because he gets lazy. If you notice that he is slipping, encourage him to get back into it. For example, if he loves playing the guitar, encourage him to continue. A guy who doesn't abandon a pastime is a guy who can easily fall in love because he is not wholly relying on you to be his stress reliever.

46. Give Him A Challenge

Giving a guy a challenge motivates him. It could be a challenge to accomplish a particular task or even a dream that he has. This tends to infuse energy into his psyche. He will want to prove that he can get that task done and becomes invested in it emotionally. As long as you choose something that you know he would feel compelled to take on, you can easily develop a relationship with him that leads to love.

47. Give Him A Special Day

Give him a day every so often where he can choose to do whatever he wants with your time. It's his. If he wants to challenge you to do something out of the norm, you are game. If he wants to just have a completely lazy day where nothing is done, you are game. This is "his" day. The more you do this, the more willing he will be to do the same for you. This builds a very powerful rapport between you.

48. Make Fun Of Him

So that he isn't always taking everything so serious, learn to make fun of him in a light-hearted way. It allows him to realize that relationships are supposed to be fun. It also allows him to appreciate the fact that you are not putting all this pressure on him to be the perfect mate.

49. Make Fun Of Yourself

In the same vein, when you make fun of yourself, you are also showing your guy that you realize that relationships are supposed to be fun as well and you aren't taking yourself too seriously. It will make him feel like you are different from the norm and he will grow to really embrace that. A guy this thrilled will often be willing to fall in love with you.

50. Be Happy And Resolve Issues Quickly

Yes, being happy is so incredibly important. Couples can sometimes get into a rut where they aren't speaking to each other or stay mad at each other for extended periods of times. You need to learn to be happy and ensure that you resolve issues immediately. The less issues, the less emotional strain. The less emotional strain, the happier his psyche. The happier his psyche, the more likely he will fall in love.

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD MORE EBOOKS.

DatingLogic.net