

50 Ways To Make A Guy Chase You And Keep Him Interested

By

Dating Logic

1. Be Unavailable From Time To Time

If you are always available to him when he needs someone to talk to or hang out with, he will get so used to that and take you for granted. When you make yourself unavailable on certain occasions, you get him curious about what you are up to. He really can't help but keep trying to establish contact with you and when he eventually does, he is full of questions about what you were up to. This is how you keep him wanting to chase you because you aren't always there to keep him entertained.

2. Be Unpredictable

A guy who is used to being around girls and dating them will know what to expect from them. He knows how they will react to a particular situation or things they would want to do. When you are unpredictable, you aren't reacting the way most girls do to certain situations nor are you only doing the activities that the majority of girls tend to do. This kind of attitude keeps him guessing about you and that can really make a guy feel driven to chase you.

3. Share In His Passion

If he has a passion for something, you should make an effort to share in it. If you don't know much about it, you should learn about it. The more you are able to talk to him about his passion in a way that truly seems like you know what you are talking about and you are interested, the more you get him to feel like you have a connection with him. He would feel really compelled to chase you because you are sharing in what he loves so much.

4. Give Him Bits Of Your Story At A Time

A girl can get so excited about a guy that she exhausts all of her story within the first few dates. You should really try to avoid this. Give him your story but only give him small bits of it at a time. If he asks you to go on, you could tell him that you will give him the rest at another time and then turn the conversation to a question about him. This really gets him thinking about what more there is to you. This makes him want to chase you and see more of you so that he can get more of your story.

5. Casually Date Other Guys

By casually dating other guys, you are showing that you are in demand. He recognizes that there are other guys that are vying for your attention. He realizes that he really has to up his game if he wants to stand out from them. You don't have to constantly put it in his face. However, you should be honest with him about that relatively early so that he realizes that he doesn't have all the time in the world to figure out what he wants from you. You give him a sense of urgency.

6. Have A Busy Lifestyle

Having a rich and full life filled with activities can really grab attention. It makes you interesting. It makes you a person who is constantly making things happen and not sitting around waiting on some guy to sweep you off your feet. When you are engaging in activities around what you love whether it be travelling, going to social events, working out, developing business projects, connecting with influential people, etc, you show that you are full of so much life. This is irresistible to many guys.

7. Be A Good Entertainer

If you tend to entertain at the home or at social events, you can really go far with the impression you leave on a guy. Perhaps you are really good at making sure everyone has a good time and working your way through the room. This really sets you apart as someone who would be fun to interact with and who is uniquely different from the rest. He will want to be at more social events where he knows that you are going to show up. He wants to be around that energy and spirit.

8. Be Open

As much as you should give him bits of your story at first, you should still seem open. He should get the sense that you are a person who is capable of opening herself up. This has an effect of also making him feel like he can open up to you as well. This kind of feeling really entices him to want to talk to you more. This is how you get him to chase you without even realizing it.

9. Compliment Something That Most Don't

If he is an attractive guy, he may already be used to people complimenting his looks. You can be different to set yourself apart. Instead of focusing on complimenting his looks, you can compliment something on him or about him that most people would overlook. Perhaps he has a habit of moving his mouth a certain way when he smiles at you, you can draw attention to this. It makes him stop and realize that he has never heard that before. The more he thinks this way, the more he is compelled to chase you.

10. Make Him Have An Adventure With You

You could take him to a place that he has never been to before or give him an experience that he has never had. You basically take him outside the box of what he is used to. It could be a weekend getaway to an exotic locale or a special retreat. Simply put him in an environment that he has never experienced. Even if he may not entirely love the experience, you get a lot of points for being daring and different. This is how you get him to wonder what else you have in store for him.

11. Cook His Favorite Dish

There are many guys who love to eat a really good home-cooked meal. If you aren't that great of a cook, you can get reasonably good with some online education or just practicing with cookbooks. Once you are able to make him his favorite dishes, he will find it very difficult to get you out of his mind. You would be setting yourself apart from other women. He would want you around so much more and won't be able to stop himself from chasing you.

12. Love His Family

A guy can easily get attached to a woman who really shows genuine concern for those in his life that he loves. When you show genuine concern for his family members and even develop friendships with them, he will really start thinking about you as someone that he would want to keep around. His family members will also be constantly saying wonderful things about you to him and this will also entice him to want to chase you even more.

13. Flirt With Him

Learn to flirt if you don't. It can be very effective in getting him to chase you and keep him interested. By flirting and letting him know that you can really let loose when you want to, it gives him a good sense of your playfulness. He will want to be around that flirty playfulness as often as he can. This is how you can get him to chase you and desire you to a really profound extent.

14. Flatter Him

This has to be done in a way that makes him want more. You shouldn't go overboard with it. However, a guy loves it when he is flattered from time to time. It gives him a real boost to his ego. Flatter him from time to time. Do so in a way that makes it seem like he is the only guy that has the goods. In other words, you make him feel that he is so much better than his peers. This kind of flattery really gets him wanting more from you. He knows how good you make him feel and he wants more of it.

15. Be Playful

You should also be willing to be playful with him. It could be harmless arm-wrestling with him or just making faces at him among other things. Being playful like this really loosens him up. It makes him feel like he doesn't have to be constantly on his game or on proper behavior. He will want to chase a girl who makes him feel this relaxed whenever he is around her.

16. Travel With Him

Travelling with a person can really create a bond that many other experiences can't. If you travel with him on occasion, you will get him to see the person you are when you aren't around your normal environment. He will also get the opportunity to break free of his normal environment and have brand new experiences with you. Upon returning, he will be really looking forward to a time in the near future that he can go away with you again.

17. Be Affectionate

Guys love affection too. When you are able to show him that you appreciate when he holds you like that or hugs you like that, he knows that you are open and receptive to him. You don't have to overdo it but you should show him that you are open to his embrace. It makes him want to do it even more and give you even more affection in the future.

18. Engage In His Pastime

Even if you may not necessarily enjoy the pastime, just be open enough to partake in it. Do so sincerely as well. You don't want to make him feel as though he is forcing you to do something that you really detest. Find a way to be motivated enough to engage in it. He will really appreciate you for it. He notices that you are really making an effort to understand some of what makes him who he really is and that can be very intoxicating.

19. Keep Your Text Messages Short

A girl can get carried away when she likes a guy. She can send really long text messages because she just wants to express how emotionally happy that guy is making her. You should avoid this. Your texts to him should be relatively short to start. This is how you keep him actually looking forward to the next text from you. If he knew that every time he texted you, you would be sending him a lot of text back, he would dread texting you. You need to keep him intrigued by keeping those text messages short.

20. Keep Your Texts Witty

Avoid really boring texts that are just all about filling time and space. That gives a guy no reason to want to chase you. He is bored with you. Your texts should be witty. You can crack a joke in them or be sarcastic. The idea is to keep your texts fun. When you make them witty, you make them really fun to read. This is what makes him want to keep the channel of communication open. He has no idea what you are going to text next and this is incredibly exciting to him.

21. Be Funny In Your Banter

Guys absolutely love to laugh just as much as girls. When you talk to him face to face, have those moments where you make him laugh. Even if you don't believe that you are naturally funny, you can make up for that by simply cracking a joke at your expense or using your body language. There are ways you can go about being funny in your banter and making him laugh. Once you have found the one that works for you, just stick with it. He will want to be around you more and more.

22. Challenge Him

A guy can get very bored with his life and achievements. He may have gotten to the point where he feels like he has nothing left to achieve. Well, he does. You should find ways to challenge him. It could be getting him to go on a morning jog with you or getting him to listen to a particular kind of music. Your challenge would intrigue him even if he may be somewhat unsure about it at first. Once you are able to create this kind of spark with him, he will want to be around more of that.

23. Give Him Deadlines

This is more of a playful deadline. Perhaps a deadline that entices him to learn something in 30 days. This can be so much fun. It can be just as much fun if you also play along and give yourself the same deadline to achieve something. This all makes your interaction with him so much more interesting than the regular run of the mill relationship. He will want to meet your deadline and this forces him to chase you and stay interested.

24. Gift Him Something Dear To You

When you are able to gift him with something that he knows is dear to you, it automatically endears you to him. Even if the gift itself isn't that amazing to look at, he knows that it really means something to you. This creates a connection with you that he may never have thought he could have. Whenever he interacts with that gift or sees it, it reminds him of you. All of a sudden, he wants to know where you are and what you are up to.

25. Talk About Your Guy Friends

This is not about making him feel jealous. Instead, you should talk about your guy friends in more of a conversational and platonic tone. In those discussions, you should really talk about topics that those guys have discussed with you. This gives him a really good sense of how in tune you are with a guy's perspective on things or in how a guy looks at the world. This really sets you apart from other women. He starts to feel like you get him. He is infused with further energy in wanting to chase you.

26. Have A Distinct Look

It can be easy to just play it safe and look like every other girl out there but that doesn't make you stand out. When you allow yourself to have a distinct look that is uniquely what you are about, you really set yourself apart. Even if he may not necessary be entirely taken by the look, he will appreciate the fact that you are being different. This is how he gets to look at you as someone who has more to offer than those who play it safe.

27. Be Daring

You don't have to put yourself in dangerous situations to be daring. However, by having a side to you that is willing take risks from time to time, you really become very exciting. He knows that he won't have a dull moment with you. You may come right out and say something daring that he wasn't expecting or do something daring. All of this keeps him interested and coming back for more.

28. Be Yourself

You really have to be genuine. Getting him to chase you and stay interested in you will not work if you create a persona that you really aren't. He will be able to see right through that in time and you would lose him forever. You need to comfortable enough in yourself that you can be just that whenever you are around him. Avoid just telling him the things that you know he would like to hear. The more you maintain your true self to him, the more intrigued he becomes.

29. Be Honest

Be honest in your opinions about something. He may have asked your opinion about something that relates to him in a big way and you tell him a lie or you just butter up the real truth. You really shouldn't be this way. When you are honest with him, he knows that he never has to worry that you will not be true to what you really think. This may be the factor that completely wins him over and has him chasing after you.

30. Relate To Him With Relevant Issues

Find ways to relate to him with things that he really values. It's not about telling him that you both love the same color. It's more so about relating with him on issues that helped shape the person that he has become today. If you had a similar experience or know of someone who did when it comes to something significant that occurred in his life, these are the best moments to relate. This is how you get him to feel a much stronger bond with you and really want to chase you because of it.

31. Talk About Your Adventures

The more you tell him about something exciting that happened to you when you were on a past or recent adventure, the more he wonders what it would be like to experience that adventure with you. This is how you really get him thinking about what it would be like to share that kind of time with you and only you.

32. Be Gracious To People

Being gracious really gets other people to notice and want to be around your positive energy. This works even better when you are gracious in situations that most regular people would become negative with. This kind of personality trait is very attention grabbing. He may not have that trait himself but he would admire you for it. He may find himself in situations where he is about to be negative but stops himself because he instantly thinks of what you would do in the same situation.

33. Keep Your Promises

There isn't too much that turns a guy off more than when a girl doesn't follow through with something that she promised she would. This really affects the way he looks at you and makes him begin to doubt whether he can ever truly trust you. When you develop the habit of keeping your promises to him, he really feels like you are someone who is worthy of his time. He wants a girl that doesn't give him false hopes. He wants a girl that keeps her promises. This is the girl he chases.

34. Have A Passion

It is always beneficial if there is something in life that you are really passionate about. It could be a course, a way of life, a form of art, etc. When you are this passionate about something, you are able to really show that in how you talk to him and the kind of energy you exhibit whenever you are around him. This kind of passion can get infectious and it may even lead him to want to be just as passionate as you are about it. This creates a connection between you that leads to a stronger desire to be closer.

35. Poke Fun At Yourself

Being able to poke fun at yourself is a really good way to let him know that you don't take yourself too seriously. You are able to take life as it comes and try not to be laden down by it. You are able to show just how much life can be just as funny as it is cruel. However, underneath it all, you don't allow anything to get to you that much because you have to be able to see the fun side of life. This kind of attitude doesn't go unnoticed and he will really be impressed by it.

36. Be His Cheerleader

This is really about prepping him up. He is not always going to be game to go out and do what he is supposed to. Perhaps he has reached a point in his life where he has just gotten used to the monotony. You really should be his cheerleader. When you make him look at the monotony of life in a much more exciting way, he changes and feels so much more refreshed. This works a lot better when you also have a cheery attitude when it comes to your life in general. This is infectious and he will be drawn to you.

37. Admit Your Mistakes

When you are able to humble yourself enough to admit that you were wrong about something, he gets the sense of just how real of a person you are. Some people find it very hard to admit that they were wrong about something or that someone else was right. You shouldn't be that person. By being willing to admit your mistakes, you let him see that you are a person who is open to improving and to suggestions. This gives him a better sense of the kind of role he can play in your life.

38. Have An Important Presence On Social Media

Even though he may not use social media all that much, he will still make it a point to check out your social media page. From here, he gets a true sense of what you are all about when you are dealing with people at large. He also gets a good idea of some of your passions and how you relate to people. This is also where he can get a true vibe of your friends and whether they are the kind of people he would get along with. If you use your social media space wisely, you keep him intrigued and coming back for more.

39. Show Your Vulnerable Side

No one is above vulnerability. When you are willing to show the side of you that is vulnerable and isn't always on top of everything, you can really gain his respect. He appreciates the fact that you aren't trying to come off as though everything you do is perfect and there isn't anything that bothers you. Perhaps you feel a sense of vulnerability when it comes to taking on new challenges. Well, by being real about that, he knows that you are a truly authentic person and this can really push him to chase you.

40. Be His Support System

He needs to know that if he were to really need you, you would be there for him. He has to get the sense that you are someone who has the potential to be his rock. If he goes through testy times and you are there to support him, he realizes that you are the person that he wants to have with him. He feels that you are worth the effort in trying to chase you and make you a real fixture of his life.

41. Make Suggestions

You could really give him a perspective on something that he would have never thought of. Some girls get worried about giving a suggestion because they don't want to end up being wrong or leading the guy to a bad mistake. You shouldn't be that girl. Even if your suggestions don't always end up putting him at a better place, he will appreciate the fact that you were willing to help.

42. Be Seductive

Being seductive doesn't mean that you have to do anything that you aren't comfortable doing. Being seductive could be as simple as dressing sexy one day and making sure he gets to see that. It could be simply touching him softly as you talk to him and looking deep into his eyes. It could be brushing your body softly across his as you interact with him. These are effective and wholesome ways to be seductive that will have him chasing you and craving more.

43. Be Brazen

You can be brazen when the occasion calls for it. A guy can really appreciate a woman who knows how to stand up for herself and doesn't allow anyone to roll over her. When you are brazen because you were disrespected by someone or you were treated in an unfair manner, you show him a strong side of you. You also show him what you will and will not tolerate. This is what really gets him in the mindset of wanting to be on your good side.

44. Take Trips With Friends

Go on relatively extended vacations with your friends. This is how you get him to realize that you really do have a life outside of what he has gotten used to seeing you doing. It also lets him see that there are other people who love your company and are vying for your time. It suddenly makes you a hot commodity that he has to win over because your time is clearly precious.

45. Have A Common Pastime

There is a really strong bond that can develop between two people when they have a common pastime. You may have a common pastime with him that you aren't even aware of. Perhaps the both of you enjoy hiking. This is a common pastime that can really tie you two together. He begins to visualize what it would be like to go hiking with you and this in turn makes him want to chase you.

46. Do Something Different Every Date

Never get into the monotony of doing the same thing over and over on your dates. This is the mistake so many people make. You get him truly invested in you when he knows that he is in for something different with every date. This is how you keep things interesting. He may have been the one initiating the dates and playing it safe by trying to do the same old things everyone does. You let him know real early on that you are different by making suggestions for dates that he never would have thought of.

47. Keep Him Waiting

Try not to sleep with him too soon. This is a mistake that a number of girls make. They believe that by sleeping with him sooner, they will grab his interest and keep him around. This isn't always the case. You really need to practice some restraint when it comes to this. A guy is going to be a lot more willing to chase you when he knows that you are a real prize.

48. Wear The Right Perfume

Wearing the right kind of perfume can make a world of difference when it comes to getting him to chase you. The pheromones that the right perfume on you gives off will make him want to be back again and again. The scent leaves an imprint in his mind so that he is still thinking about you long after the date has ended. If you aren't wearing it the next time you go out on a date with him, he may ask you about it. That's when you know the impact it has had on him and will keep having on him when you wear it.

49. Initiate Dates

You shouldn't just wait on him to initiate a date. By initiating dates yourself, you are showing him that you are a take-charge kind of person. However, you are doing it in a way that truly makes him feel like you are invested in this process. He doesn't feel the weight or pressure of always having to be the one who initiates a date. The result of this kind of approach is that you actually inspire him to want to go on more dates with you and chase you.

50. Team Up For Something

It could be a charity drive of some sort, an obstacle course, a marathon, a work-out challenge, etc. This is how he begins to look at you as a real partner. When you both get to work as a team toward achieving a particular goal, it can work real magic in your relationship with him. He begins to see you as someone who is dependable and who he has a partnership with. He will want to keep experiencing these special moments of partnership and teamwork.

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD MORE EBOOKS.

DatingLogic.net