

50 Ways To Turn Guys On

---

By

Dating Logic

1. Compliment Him Often

A guy does love to hear that he is attractive or that something about him is attractive. The more you let him know this with compliments, the better he feels. This works even better when you compliment him on something he has been working hard on. You may compliment him on his arms because he has been working out and building muscle recently. You may compliment him on that new beard he has been growing for the last few weeks or months. The more you compliment a guy, the more you turn him on.

2. Touch Him Often

When you develop a habit of touching him in a tender fashion as you interact with him or talk to him, he will start feeling a stronger sense of attraction toward you. Touch can be so effective in turning a guy on because it lets him know that you are into him and that you are trying to create that physical connection with him.

3. Whisper In His Ear

There is something about the feel of your breath in his ear and the sound of your voice that close to him that can be a very profound turn on for a guy. When you do things like whisper in his ear, you are making him feel like he is the only one that you are trying to get close to at that moment and share something with. The other people around aren't invited. Only he is. This is how he becomes that much more enamored by you and turned on as a result of it.

4. Boosting His Ego

A guy typically has an ego that he carries around with him. When you boost that ego by telling him something in reference to how good he is at doing something or how he is so much better at doing something than everyone else, you really give him a boost. It makes him feel like he is on top of the world. This turns him on and makes him want to have you around him a lot more often.

5. Making Consistent Eye Contact With Him

He is often going to be looking your way because he wants you to look back at him. He likes it when you look back at him because it makes him feel like you notice him. A guy is often looking for this kind of response from a girl. When you are consistent in giving him eye contact, he is turned on by the fact that you are letting him know that you see him and you are acknowledging him.

6. Loving His Hobbies

Even though you may not love all his hobbies, if you show true love and interest in at least some of them, he will really be turned on by that. It lets him know that you have a connection with him and you are willing to show it. The more dear the hobby is to him, the more he feels turned on by the fact that you love it as well.

7. Talk Him Up To His Friends

When you are able to really talk him up as you interact with his friends, he is really going to take notice of that. When you say things about him to his friends that put him in a really positive light, you are also boosting his social influence and the way his friends look at him. This is how you really get him turned on to the fact that there is a girl who has no qualms letting his friends know just how great he is. Whether you are praising his skill at something or his temperament, you are really making him feel good.

8. Defending Him

Sometimes a girl may stay quiet because she doesn't want to get in the fray. However, when you defend him against someone who may be trying to make fun of him or humiliate him in some way, you really grab his attention. He realizes that you are really putting your own reputation on the line by sticking up for him and this can really turn him on. It gets him to a place where he really feels like you are on his team.

9. Flirting With Him

Flirting can be a very powerful tool when it comes to turning a guy on. When you are able to flirt with him in a way that makes him truly feel a connection with you, you really leave an impression. He sees that you are willing to play along and have fun with him. He also realizes that you are game for talk that may not always be so appropriate or safe. He wants to flirt with you more often because he knows that you will play along and he loves that.

10. Giving Him Space

A girl can get so into a guy that she wants to spend a whole of time with him. She wants to talk to him on the phone or text him for hours on end every day, all day. You don't want to be that kind of girl early on if you want to turn him on. When you give him his space to do what he wants with his friends or just have his own time, you show him that you aren't a clingy girl. It ensures that he thinks about you more often because he wonders what you are up to.

11. Befriend His Family Members

When you actually form real relationships with a guy's family members, he is very impressed by that. He recognizes that you are actually putting in the time to get to know them and be a true friend to them. This turns him on over time because he will continue getting accounts of you and how amazing you are from family members that he trusts.

12. Empathize With Him

You go a long way in turning him on when you are able to empathize with him. He needs that kind of support from time to time. He may not have gotten the promotion he wanted at work or he may be unable to engage in an activity he loves because of an injury, etc. This is where your empathy becomes very impactful in making him see that you know how he feels or you at least can empathize with the fact that he is not feeling too happy about these occurrences. He feels like you care when you do this.

13. Get Knowledgeable About His Passion

He may be really passionate about something. It could be a sport, art, technological device, etc. By getting knowledgeable about it, you are really able to be on his level when it comes to talking about that passion in question. This really sets you apart from other girls. It makes him feel like he can really talk to you about something that he can't really talk to other girls about without them looking at him like he is speaking a different language.

14. Remember His Story

Pay attention to what he tells you about his past and bring it up in future conversations. This is how you make him realize that you were actually paying attention to what he was saying. It also shows him that you were probably thinking about his story while you were going about your day. He then realizes that he has been in your thoughts. This is a big turn on for him.

15. Relate To His Story

Turning a guy on in this way can be very profound. He may have told you something about his past that you have also experienced or witnessed. When you are able to relate to his story by also telling him about a similar experience that you have had or witnessed, he feels an instant connection with you. You are suddenly someone that he can relate to on a much deeper level.

16. Don't Always Be Available

Whether it's to chat on the phone or to meet up and hang out, you shouldn't always be available to him to do these things. You should be out on your own doing your own thing or be engaged with your friends and family. You show him just how much of an independent mindset you have when he notices that you aren't always available to him. This is very effective in turning him on and making him feel like he should never take the time he has with you for granted.

17. Have a Full Lifestyle

By showing him that you have a lifestyle that is packed with doing things that you love, you really get him excited about what it would be like to be a part of all that activity. He realizes that there are many facets to you. He gets curious about them. If he knows that you spend a good amount of your time volunteering, he may start reading up about your particular volunteer program or operation, trying to get more information about it. He feels a closer connection to you as a result and is turned on.

18. Be Vulnerable

Being strong is always a good thing. However, don't always feel that you have to be strong and only show that side of you. Every human being has their weak moments or things about them that they may not like that much or believe needs to be worked on. Don't be afraid to show this side of you from time to time. It lets him know that you are down to earth and relatable and this can be a powerful turn on.

19. Ask For His Help

This is where you get to make him feel like he is useful. So many guys get turned on by the fact that a girl needs their help for something. When you are able to ask for his help with something, it automatically lets him know that you are the kind of girl who is willing to show that she can do with some help when needed. It also lets him know that he has value to you and isn't just someone that you interact with for the sake of it.

20. Give Him Meaningful Gifts

He may really enjoy working on his car or his home or his boat, etc. If you were to give him a gift of tools that he can use on those properties, you would be giving him a meaningful gift. He is turned on by the fact that you took the time to get him something that he can actually use. Since he loves working on those properties, he will always think of you as he is doing so with the tools that you gifted him. This creates more of a connection to you that can easily put a smile on his face.

21. Be Entertaining

When you have a nature about you that is fun and social, it can really relieve the kind of pressure that many guys feel about having to always be entertaining when they take a girl out on a date or interact with her. You make him feel like you are truly invested in this process of getting to know him when you are putting in an effort to be just as entertaining as he is, instead of waiting on him to give you a good time.

22. Be Carefree

This is not about being irresponsible. It is more so about you having a way about you that lets him know that you can let loose. You are not so proper all time. You are not always checking off a list of what is appropriate to say or do. You are able to just be in the moment and speak your mind or do something out of the box. This turns him on because he really wants to be around that kind of energy and may be inspired to allow himself to be the same way around you.

23. Dress Sexy

Guys are very visual when it comes to attraction. You can really feed that kind of nature by dressing sexy. You can do this in a classy way. You don't have to reveal a whole lot to dress sexy. It can simply be the way a dress fits you, how a color compliments your skin tone or how a hint of skin gives you that sensual vibe. This turns him on in a way that grabs his initial attention as he begins to ask himself who that girl is.

24. Put On Makeup

Lots of guys love makeup on girls. You may not be a fan of having it on all that often. However, you don't have to go overboard with it. You can use makeup in a way that accents your most attractive physical elements without having to overdo it. This is a big way to attract a guy, turn him on and get him thinking about what it would be like to talk to you.

25. Laugh More Often

Laughter has an amazing effect on a guy. He loves the sound of it and the energy it exudes. He loves how each laughter is so unique from individual to individual. When you make it a habit to laugh more, your personality is shining through. You may have never even said a word and yet you have his full attention. Laughter gives him a sense of how approachable and energetic you are. He is turned on by this and wants to get closer to that source of music to his ears.

26. Pamper Yourself

Avoid getting so wrapped up in your life that you don't take out the time to pamper yourself. He knows that you are taking out the time every time you tell him that you about to head out to get a massage or get in the hot tub. These are the moments that he gets to visualize what it would be like if he were right there with you. This kind of vision can have a very profound effect on how he feels about you.

27. Befriend His Friends

Forming good relationships with his friends lets him know that you care about the people that are important in his life. He will appreciate you for it and will want to be around you as much as possible. He may even talk about how he admires the fact that you can handle a particular friend that he typically doesn't have that much patience for. This is how he begins to really look at you as someone special.

28. Remember Important Days To Him

There may be certain days that he really holds dear and tends to acknowledge. He may even have a particular way in which he commemorates these days. By remembering these days and asking him what his plans are for them, you are showing that you care about things that are important to him. He may even take it a step further by inviting you to partake in his commemoration. That's how you get him to let you in. He can't help but get turned on by the fact you care and remember.

29. Be Sarcastic

Being sarcastic can really get him thinking. He wonders if you were serious about what you just said or if you were playing around. This gets him thinking about you more and more. It also makes him take what you say into account and remember it. Hours after your discussion with him, he is still thinking about a sarcastic comment that you made and is wondering if you were being serious or not. The more he thinks about you and isn't quite sure where to place what you say on occasion, the more intrigued he is by you.

30. Love Yourself

It's hard to get a guy to be turned on by you when you clearly show that you are bitter at life. A guy can easily sense this energy even though you may try to hide it the first few times that you interact with him. Loving yourself means that you have accepted who you are with all of your good and bad points. You don't judge yourself for it. You simply find ways to improve and just keep moving. This is the attitude that turns him on because he knows that he won't be around a girl who is constantly miserable.

31. Volunteer To Help Him

He may need your help from time to time. Perhaps something has come up and he needs someone to pick up an item for him from a store while he is at a business meeting. This is where volunteering to help him can really set you apart and consequently turn him on. He may not ask for your help directly but by volunteering that help, you have instantly made him feel like you are a team player and someone that he can trust.

32. Share Your Story Gradually

A girl can get so carried away with a guy that she just tells him her whole life story within the first few dates. To turn him on effectively, you need to exercise restraint. By only sharing small segments of your story with him at a time, you leave him wanting more. He keeps thinking about what more there is to the story even in moments where he should be focused on work or activity. In other words, you are constantly on his mind.

33. Disagree With Him

A girl can also want to do everything in her power not to offend the guy she really likes. As a result, she proceeds to agree with everything that he says. This isn't the right strategy. You will turn him on a lot more when you disagree with him if it calls for it. If you truly have a different opinion about something he is talking about, let him know what your opinion is after respectfully listening to his own. This lets him know that you are not just another yes girl.

34. Share A Meal With Him

Instead of ordering your own separate plates when you are out at a restaurant or an eatery of some sort, order one plate and share it. This means that he gets to be close to you as you both eat. This can be a very intimate experience that really turns him on. The combination of how good the food is making you both feel plus your proximity to each other can be very impactful and impossible to ignore.

35. Feed Him

Even though you may not be sharing a meal, you can still find ways to create that connection that turns him on. You could feed him something off your plate so that he gets to taste it. Doing this often will allow him to really anticipate this move. He will look forward to it and be turned on by it. It eventually makes him want to feed you. By reciprocating, he is showing that you are really getting through to him.

36. Be Confident

Guys are incredibly turned on by confident girls. Being confident about who you are and what you are about is something that a guy will read on very quickly. It's not about you trying to impress him by saying all the right things. It's about you showing that you are fully confident in yourself and in your ability to navigate through life regardless of judgment. This is such a turn on because it shows him that you are always going to be that person that has no problem being that beacon for others to follow.

37. Be Yourself

You may not believe that there is anything special about you, but there is. Each and every one of us is unique in our own ways. When you embrace that and allow yourself to just be you, you would be showing him that authentic side of you. A guy is attracted to authenticity. It lets him know that if he were to allow this interaction to go any further with this girl, he would be getting the real girl and not a facade.

38. Be Honest

Being honest about yourself and about what you are thinking can be very effective in turning him on. These are the moments where you are telling your truth and speaking from the heart. These are the moments where you are willing to admit guilt or a disappointment. These are the moments when you are able to take responsibility for something that you may have said or done that affected someone the wrong way. Being honest truly shows your humility and he will be turned on by that.

39. Laugh At Yourself

Being able to laugh at yourself shows him that you don't take yourself too seriously. This is a huge turn on to him because it lets him know that you are capable of seeing some of the absurdity of life and just laugh it off. It lets him see that you are very aware that you are not always perfect in what you do nor do you always say the right things. This way, he knows that he can make mistakes with you and not have to worry about you judging him.

40. Give Him Long Hugs

A lot of girls don't realize how powerful the act of simply hugging a guy can be. This is the hug that lingers and breathes. You aren't trying to disengage and run off somewhere. You are just there in that moment, experiencing that hug. You are allowing him to be your protector at that moment as you remain relaxed against his chest. Giving him these kind of hugs on a regular basis makes him so comfortable with you that he can't wait until the next time he sees you and gets to hug you again.

41. Be Invested In His Goals

This allows you to show him that you are not just someone who will be here now and be gone the next. You truly do want him to get what he wants out of life and accomplish his goals. When you show that you are invested in goals, you are being supportive and helpful. You tell him that you believe in him and that he will get there. Sometimes, that is really all it takes to make him really feel like you are his rock.

42. Be Playful With Him

You may both be adults but you still shouldn't lose that sense of childish wonder or playfulness. Play hide and seek with him. Play fight with him. Play touch football with him. Play water games with him. Play on the playground with him. Just be playful. These are moments that you both get to release all the stress of your day and just have fun with each other in a playful way. He will always think of these moments and cherish them. He will want to experience them with you again and again.

43. Go On Adventures

Just get out of your normal routine and do something adventurous with him. It could be travelling to another country, exploring a wine vineyard in the country, going scuba diving together, etc. Just have adventures with him that takes him away from what he is used to doing. This turns him on because it gets him really excited for the next time he gets to be with you. You are exciting to him and he wonders what more you have in store for him.

44. Talk About Sex

It may seem taboo at first but you can eventually get to this point after you get comfortable with each other or have done a lot of flirting. It could be an honest discussion about the subject or just preferences that you both may have. This really lets him know what you like. This is also where you can both start understanding whether there are similarities in your preferences.

45. Take Risks

This is not about putting your life in danger. It is more so about challenging yourself to do something that you have either never done before or you have been wanting to do for a while. It could be something as harmless as trying a new food dish that you never have or something a little bit more daring like skydiving or ziplining. Taking controlled risks can really turn him on because he gets to see a side of you that is a little dangerous and a little unpredictable.

46. Wear Something Of His

It may be his cap or a shirt. However, get into the habit of wearing something of his when you are around him from time to time. Taking his cap off his head and putting it on yours. Taking his jacket and wearing it. Taking his bracelet and putting it on. You don't want to overdo this. However, it can be very effective in making him feel like you are bonding with him.

47. Engage In More Masculine Activities

You will really catch his attention if he notices that you tend to engage in activities that are typically undertaken by guys. Perhaps you spend more time in the weight room at the gym than the other girls. Perhaps you spend more time at the local bar on Sundays watching the games. Perhaps you spend more time at the race track watching the drivers or even better, you drive as well. It should be an activity that you are comfortable doing. All of this really sets you apart from other girls and turns him on.

48. Brush Against Him

The contact you cause by brushing against him can trigger a strong feeling of interest from him. It works best as a subtle brush. It could be your hand brushing against his or your thigh brushing against his own. The more you create this kind of contact with him, the more he wants to be around you. He gets a true sense of attraction and is energized because of it.

49. Kiss His Neck

Whenever you kiss him, make it a point to kiss his neck. This is one of the most sensitive parts of the human body. It is also a part that is tender and exposed. By giving this part of his body attention when you kiss him, you are creating a tender closeness to him. You automatically put a smile on his face. He may lean into the kiss even more.

50. Give Him Regular Back Massages

A back massage does a lot to relieve tension. You really put him at ease when you give him back massages. It also creates a connection that is powerful and pleasant. He sees you as someone with the power to relieve all that stress and pent up energy. Whether he has just gotten off work or has had a long day studying for his exams, your massage goes a long way in making him feel completely at rest. He is turned on by such tenderness and relief. He is turned on by you.

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD MORE EBOOKS.

DatingLogic.net