

50 Ways To Make A Girl Feel Special

By

Dating Logic

1. Give Her Meaningful Compliments

It's not about only complimenting her physical beauty. That is nice but you also need to give her more meaningful compliments that draw attention to her character as well. She may be a very kind person. Compliment her on this often. This lets her know that you see more to her than just her physical exterior and it will really make her feel special.

2. Give Her Meaningful Gifts

Your gift doesn't always have to be extravagant and expensive. In fact, for a lot of girls, the more thoughtful the gift, the more special she feels. A gift as simple as getting her seeds in order to help her grow her favorite plants in her small garden can be just as impactful as buying her a diamond necklace. It's about how meaningful and thoughtful that gift is to her. This is where you separate her from every other woman and truly make her feel special.

3. Listen To Her

A guy can often shut his mind out when he is listening to a girl talk to him. He may be there physically but he really isn't listening to what she is saying. Girls can read into this. Develop the habit of truly listening to her and allowing her to get the sense that what she is saying is not being overlooked. When you have the patience and capacity to do this, it is a lot easier to make her feel special.

4. Relate To Her

If you realize that you have had similar experiences with her, be open enough to let her know about them. This makes her feel like she has formed a connection with you and she is encouraged that much more to open herself up to you. You would also be showing her that you are trying to create a deeper connection with her and that makes her feel really special.

5. Be Patient

There are guys who just want to get to sleeping with the girl or just get what they want out of the relationship without any regard for the girl. You need to be patient with her and let the process unfold naturally. She will instantly appreciate you for it and if she has rarely had this kind of experience with other guys she has talked to or dated in the past, you would become so much more unique to her.

6. Say Nice Things About Her To Your Friends

She will eventually learn about what you tell your friends about her. When she hears about all the nice and kind words that you say about her to your friends, she knows that you are truly an amazing guy and will feel an incredible amount of appreciation for you. She feels really special and knows that she wants to be with you more and more.

7. Learn About Her Life

Showing a genuine interest about her life and what she has been through would instantly show that you aren't just there for your own selfish reasons. She now has someone that she can truly tell her story to and feel a sense of security with. She likes it when you ask her questions about her life and you really want to get to know her on a much deeper level.

8. Give Her Praise

She is encouraged when you acknowledge something she has done and you praise it. It doesn't have to be anything profound. It doesn't even necessarily have to be an accomplishment. It could simply be a way that she goes about living her life. It could be a course that she has taken dear to her heart and worked on. The idea is that you recognize her efforts and you praise her for them.

9. Ask For And Value Her Opinion

You will go a long way in making her feel special when you do this. This is when she realizes that you are truly willing to consider what she has to say and you respect it. This is how she truly starts to gauge just how you see her as a person and how much value you place on her. By asking her opinion on issues that are important to you, you give her an incredible amount of validity.

10. Share Your Thoughts

She will often ask about what you are thinking or what is going on in your head at that moment. Some guys tend to brush this off when asked and aren't honest or even get a little bit irritated. Try to be the guy that actually takes that question seriously. Truly give her your thoughts. She doesn't want you to filter it. She wants complete honesty. Give her that and she will feel enormously special.

11. Talk Openly About Your Family

She wants to know what makes you who you are. A big part of that is your family. Some guys may not always want to be as forthcoming as a girl would want when it comes to talking openly about their family. Be the guy who is actually forthcoming with this kind of information. She feels special because you are giving her an insight into you and your background that you probably don't share with that many people.

12. Love Her Hobbies

You don't have to be fake about loving her hobbies. You can show a true interest in them and be supportive of her. She needs to feel like you have a genuine interest in what she loves to do with her free time. These are activities that she was engaged in long before she met you. They mean a lot to her. By showing a genuine love for them, you are showing that you are accepting of her.

13. Challenge Her

You shouldn't be the guy that is just complacent in what she tells you. Oftentimes, you make a girl feel a lot more special when you actually challenge her. She may have told you about something that she has been really wanting to do but has never gotten around to doing it. This is your opportunity to challenge her to do it. You could even say that you will join her in the challenge. This kind of move is so endearing because it lets her know that you are invested in helping her have the fullest experience in life.

14. Text Her Consistently

Girls really love consistent communication. This is how she knows that you are truly thinking about her. Some guys ignore texting a girl consistently because they think that it will make her want them more. You shouldn't have this attitude. She prefers that you text her consistently. She wants to keep that channel of communication open so that she knows that you are both thinking about each other.

15. Remember Anniversaries

Girls love anniversaries and tend to remember them. Make it a habit to remember special anniversaries. These don't only apply to anniversaries of your relationship with her. It can also apply to anniversaries of significant days in your relationship like the day you first went to the pet store to help her pick out her pet or the day you met her family. These are important days to her and by remembering them, you make her feel truly special.

16. Be Affectionate

She is going to want you to hold her for a while and tell her how much you care about her. You may think that doing this is not so important. After all, you show her every day how much you care about her by just being there. However, it is very important to her that you draw her close and tell her these things. She always needs to feel like you really do realize how important she is in your life. She needs to feel the closeness that showing affection to her can bring.

17. Love All Of Her

She may have certain parts of her body that she doesn't really like. She may talk about that often and just complain. You need to let her know that none of that matters to you. This is what she wants to hear from you. That is why she brings it up. She just wants to hear that the guy she loves or is seeing doesn't care about any of that. She wants the sense that you have looked beyond that and have accepted the person she truly is with all of her imperfections.

18. Call Her What She Is To You

Some guys aren't always that comfortable calling a girl his girlfriend or lady when he is out in public. You should be the guy who is perfectly happy to call her what she is in your life. This is where you really make her realize that she is someone that is different from the other girls. Her relationship with you is on another level. She feels important. She feels that her relationship with you is truly genuine.

19. Tell Her You Love Her Often

You shouldn't always have to be the one who just responds to her telling you that she loves you. She wants you to also take the initiative and tell her that you love her on a regular basis. A guy may believe that this shouldn't matter because he is already with her. He wonders why it would be necessary to keep saying the obvious. It is. She wants to hear it. It lets her know that she is truly special to you and that she has touched your heart.

20. Share Your Fears

This is part of what really makes it look like you are opening up to her and letting her in. This is how she establishes trust with you and a feeling of closeness. When you are willing to share the things that make you fearful, you instantly make her want to protect you and shield you in a good way. She feels special because you are telling her something that you probably don't share with that many people and you are opening yourself up to being vulnerable.

21. Travel With Her

Girls often love to travel. This is how they get away and have a different experience from their daily routine. She wants to travel with you. She may invite you to travel but you turn her down because you have work. You need to start making the time in your schedule to actually travel with her. You can also take the initiative and invite her to travel with you. Travelling is often a big way in which she bonds with you because it is an experience that you are both sharing that is away from the norm.

22. Give Her Advice

She may ask for your advice on certain things. Some guys typically brush this off and they don't really think it through. She thinks that she is asking him for this advice to test him or that she doesn't really care what he thinks. She does. She asks you for your advice on something for a reason. She wants to create that trusting connection with you. She may ask your advice about something to do with work or her personal life. Ensure that you give it. You would make her feel very special when you do.

23. Consistently Make Time For Her

You may have a busy life and lots of things to do. She may know that you have a very busy schedule. However, when you consistently make time for her, you make her feel tremendously special. You really give her a sense of how crucial she is to you. You are putting time aside for her and she knows that doing something like that isn't always easy.

24. Make Her Laugh

Girls love to laugh. Her laughter is made even more special when it is caused by someone she knows genuinely wants to make her smile. By making an effort to make her laugh, you are releasing the tension in her body and automatically making her happy. She gets to associate this kind of wonderful feeling with you. She wants you around often because she loves how special you make her feel.

25. Watch Her Favorite Shows With Her

She most likely has a favorite TV show, if not several. You may have no interest in these kind of shows. You may not even have any interest in watching TV in general. However, by taking the time to actually watch her favorite TV shows with her, she feels incredibly special. She knows that you may not necessarily enjoy the shows but you are willing to experience them with her. She gets attached to her shows and their characters. She will also get attached to you. And you are actually real.

26. Give Her Time With Her Girlfriends

There are some overbearing guys who really want to usurp their girlfriend's time. He doesn't want her to be with her girlfriends on any consistent basis because he is so insecure about losing her attention. You shouldn't be this guy. She is going to want to spend time with her girlfriends. She will want to go shopping with them or go to get her hair done with them. You need to let her have these moments without interruption. She will love and appreciate you for them.

27. Send Her Virtual Gifts

Your gifts to her don't always have to be physical in nature. Taking the time out to send her a virtual gift that gets to her computer, phone or tablet can be a very effective. It could be a virtual gift of flowers that she receives on her phone or computer while she is at work. It could be a virtual gift of cute stuffed animals. It could be anything that you know she would adore. These are so quick and easy to do. They are a constant reminder to her that you are thinking about her throughout your day.

28. Comfort Her

Every now and then, she may need you to comfort her and just tell her that everything is going to be alright. Or she may not even need you to say a word. Just being there would be enough of a comfort to her. These are the moments that you truly need to show a sensitivity to her and an acknowledgment that you are there for her.

29. Do Her Favors

She may need you to help her pick something up from the post office because she is tied up at work. She may need you to go to her home and take her dog for a walk because she is on an unexpected emergency meeting at work and can't get off for the next few hours. Help her with these favors when she needs you. She is asking them of you and no one else because she wants to know that you are someone that she can rely on. This is what draws her closer to you and makes her feel special.

30. Return Her Calls And Texts Promptly

Try not to get into the habit of not returning her calls and text messages promptly. It's easy to get into the habit of just returning them when you feel like it. That could be after a number of hours or even days. You shouldn't do this. Make a real effort to return those calls and texts as soon as you get the opportunity. She knows that you won't always be available to take them or return them within minutes but she still wants to get the feeling that you tried to get back with her as soon as you could.

31. Take Her Advice

When she takes the time out to really give you a well thought out piece of advice, take it. It doesn't mean that you have to do everything that she told you to a word. It just means that you have taken what she said and you will use that to help you make a decision on what you will do. This is how she knows that what she tells you does register and you consider her an equal part of the relationship.

32. Thank Her

Don't take what she does for you for granted. When she cooks for you, thank her. When she buys you something you needed from the store, thank her. When she gives you a massage after a long day at work, thank her. When she entertains your friends at the house, thank her. Thank her always. This gesture alone can be so profound in making her feel special and allowing her to understand the kind of value having her in your life brings.

33. Get To Know Her Friends

Her friends mean a lot to her. They were there before she ever met you. Some guys feel like the girl friends of the girl that they are seeing are just people to be tolerated. Your approach shouldn't be this. These girl friends are important people to her for a reason. Get to know them better. Ask about their families and careers and hobbies. Show a genuine interest in them as human beings. She will appreciate you for this and will look at this as yet another step that you have taken of accepting her completely.

34. Visit Her Hometown

There may be events that come up in her hometown that she is obligated to go to or she really wants to go to. Even if you are not that fond of where she came from, you should still support her in these moments. Visit her hometown with her and do your best to be civil to the people you meet. She feels special when she notices how much effort you are putting out in being civil to those she knew growing up.

35. Keep Your Promises

Falling into the trap of making promises because you know that she wanted to hear that is not a good idea. When you make promises to her, you really need to keep them. She remembers the promises you make to her. When you keep them, you show her that she is truly special to you and that you totally meant what you said.

36. Be Invested In Her Future

She may have goals that she would really like to attain or accomplish in the future. By being invested in her future, you are showing her that you care. This kind of investment can be through the words of encouragement you give her or even through giving her a helping hand with your time in order to get her closer and closer to it.

37. Laugh At Her Jokes

She may not always have the best jokes but do laugh at them. You don't have to have a wholehearted laugh if you didn't find it that funny. However, a chuckle or even a smile will be enough. She isn't unaware. She probably has a pretty good idea that she may not be that funny. This makes it all the more special for her when she notices that you are actually making an effort to laugh at her jokes.

38. Be Unpredictable

She doesn't always have to know what you are going to do when you are going to do it. By being unpredictable with some of what you do with her, she really gets to build a sense of anticipation. She knows that she isn't always sure of what you are going to do on a given occasion and thereby she gets very excited about what you may come up with.

39. Be A Gentleman

Girls do love gentlemen. When you open that door for her or walk on the traffic side of a sidewalk or pavement, she notices. When you pull her seat out or let her get ahead of you in line, she notices that. When you help her carry a heavy package to her car or hold the door open as she pushes it through, she notices that. Being a gentleman to her makes her feel like you are treating her with the utmost respect and this really makes her feel special.

40. Focus On Her In Public

Guys are often guilty of looking at other girls in public when they are with the girl that they are dating or like. You really need to avoid this at all costs. Most girls don't want to notice the guy that they like staring at other girls. She wants you to be completely focused on her. This makes her feel incredibly special. It shows her that you are really intent on being there for her at that moment and respecting her. It shows her that your only concern and point of desire is her.

41. Apologize When Necessary

Try not to hold on to something simply because of your pride. If you know that you were wrong about something, learn to apologize. Don't just brush it off in the hopes that she forgets about it and you can both move on. She doesn't forget about it. She knows that you never owned up to the fact that you were wrong. By being able to apologize when you know you were wrong, she knows that you do take her seriously and you are humble enough to apologize.

42. Take Her Beliefs Seriously

She may have certain beliefs or an ideology that she really holds dear. She may not be asking you to start believing in that ideology but she still wants you to show it the respect that she believes it deserves. This is where some guys make the mistake of not taking the girl seriously and just trying to find a way to separate her from those beliefs. That's the wrong move. Those beliefs may be a big part of who she is. She feels a lot more special when she knows that you take them seriously and respect them.

43. Do Your Fair Share Of The Housework

Some guys get very comfortable letting the girl do all the housework while they sit back and watch TV. He gives the argument that he had a long day at work and has earned the right to sit back and watch TV while drinking a nice cool beer. You can't have this kind of approach with her. She will feel a lot more special when she knows that you are also carrying your weight around the house and helping her out with household chores.

44. Give Her A Day Off

She has been juggling both work and the home. She has been doing all she can to ensure that the house is clean and that she is also bringing home a paycheck. Understand all of her efforts and give her a day off from time to time. Let her sleep in for her day off while you run the errands. Let her go get pampered at the massage parlor, while you clean out the house and pay the bills. You will make her feel tremendously special when she knows that you give her these days.

45. Cook For Her

Food is one of the best ways to really get to her heart and make her feel special. Take out the time to cook for her. You could prepare her favorite dishes or do something new. Just get into the habit of cooking for her and ensuring that you do it to the best of your ability. She starts looking forward to it.

She may even tell her friends and coworkers about how amazing you are for making her feel so special by cooking for her. Her friends and coworkers will most likely get jealous of her.

46. Take Her To Her Favorite Place Often

There may be a place in town that she really loves to go to. It could be a mall, restaurant, landmark, park, etc. As time goes on, life happens and she may start finding it more difficult to go to these places on her own volition. This is where you take it upon yourself to take her to her favorite place. You never let her forget how good those places make her feel. She will appreciate you for this and feel very special.

47. Partner Up

From time to time, she may need a partner to help her accomplish a task. She may need a partner at her gym class or at her dance class, etc. Try not to shy away from these. When she needs a partner, you are the best prospect. By volunteering to partner up with her on these occasions, you are giving her the sense that you are there for her and that you want to help her succeed at whatever task she is undertaking.

48. Get To Know Her Family

Her family is important to her and she will feel a strong sense of gratitude in knowing that you are really trying to get to know them. This is not about doing what you feel that you are obligated to do as her companion or the guy that she is seeing. This is about you being truly honest in getting to know them and building real relationships with them. She feels special and really grateful to you as a result.

49. Get Enthused When You Are Interacting

She really feels your energy when she talks to you on the phone and perceives how excited you are to be talking to her. She feels your energy when you show up to pick her up for a date and you look happy and thrilled. She feels your excitement when you drop her off and can't wait to see her again. Showing your enthusiasm for her can go a long way in making her feel special and making her want to see you again.

50. Give Her The Benefit Of The Doubt

She may be worried that you will judge her for something simply because you have had negative experiences in the past with girls. She may think that you will never truly give her a chance and this can easily weigh on her conscience and her mind. By giving her the benefit of the doubt, you are truly showing that you are open to who she is as a person and you are not prejudging her. This can have a really profound effect on how special you make her feel.

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD MORE EBOOKS.

DatingLogic.net