

50 Signs Of Attraction From A Guy

---

By

Dating Logic

1. Smiles At You

He smiles at you when you are looking at him and when you aren't. You notice that he always seems to have this smile on his face whenever you are around him or looking at him. This is how he is trying to show you that he is attracted to you and that you have caught his attention. He hopes that at some point, you smile back at him.

2. Stares At You

He is in the habit of staring at you for extended periods of time. He doesn't necessarily have any facial expression when he does it. Sometimes, he may just be staring at you without any facial expression at all. He is thinking about how you feel about him or what it would be like to date you. He may also be wondering if you have a boyfriend. Hence, his mind is in thought as he stares at you.

3. Touches You

He uses any excuse he can to touch you. You may be handing over something to him and he lightly touches your hand in the process. He may be talking about something and he consequently touches your arm or thigh briefly as he is making his point. He just has a habit of touching you for brief moments as he is interacting with you. He is trying to create a physical connection with you and hopes that you respond to what he is doing by either touching him back or feeling more at ease around him.

4. Brushes By You

He has a habit of brushing by you as he is about to pass you or walk somewhere. He does this so that he can get your attention and he can create a physical connection. He is trying to get past your personal space barrier and get you to be comfortable with him doing this. He hopes that the more he does it, the more you acknowledge him.

5. Gets Close

He interacts with you a lot closer than the norm. He breaks through your personal space barrier to the point where he may be as little as two or three feet from your body when he is interacting with you. This is how he shows you that he considers you to be a lot different from the other girls. He feels that it is a lot more personal with you because he is attracted to you. Thereby, he takes whatever opportunity he can to break the personal space barrier between you and him when you both interact.

6. Boasts

He takes the opportunity to boast about himself when you are around. He may not be the kind that does this too often whenever he is around other people. However, whenever you are there, he tends to start boasting about an accomplishment he has had or something amazing that he is about to do perhaps over the weekend. He wants you to hear him and he wants you to get excited about him. Perhaps you get so curious that you start asking him questions about himself.

7. Shows Off

He may be playing a sport and notices that you have shown up at the court. He suddenly starts calling out for the ball more or starts playing the game with a lot more energy than he was before you arrived. You notice that he also looks in your direction from time to time. This is how he gets to show off to you. He can do this with anything. He may show off in class by answering most of the questions that the teacher is asking or he may show off at work by showing that he has the trust of the boss.

8. Gets Loud

He may have been talking with a relatively low tone before you showed up in the room. However, now that you have showed up, he has suddenly gotten a lot louder. The volume of his voice has soared and he is looking your way from time to time to see if you have noticed. He hopes that you are able to acknowledge him in these moments.

9. Speaks Faster

He also gets into the habit of speaking faster amongst his friends or colleagues when you are around. You may know him as someone who tends to speak with a moderate pace but he tends to speak a lot faster when you are around. He does this because he gets excited when you are around. He wants to get information out of his lips as fast as he can in the hopes that something he says will grab your attention.

10. Playful

He is often really playful with you. He may try to arm wrestle you for fun or tell you to jump on his back so that he can carry you for a while. He just has this habit of always wanting to play around with you. He may even try to put you in harmless choke hold or just find ways to twist your arm behind your back as painlessly as possible. He just gets playful with you a whole lot. This is how he tries to build some camaraderie with you and get you to let your guard down.

11. Compliments You

His compliments aren't always about your physical attractiveness. He will also often compliment you about your character or personality or just something that he notices that you tend to be good at. He will find whatever means by which he can compliment you on almost a daily basis. He does this because you make him feel good whenever you are around and he wants to let you see that.

12. Encourages You

This is not just the kind of encouragement one would get from a friend. His kind of encouragement goes a lot deeper. He tends to encourage you to reach goals that you really want to reach. He tends to be the one who reminds you of those goals and lets you know that you can achieve them. He keeps telling you that he can see you reaching that goal some day. This is how he shows that he is emotionally invested in you and thereby attracted to you.

13. Whistles

He loves to whistle when you are around. He may not even be the kind of guy who whistles all that much. Yet, you have noticed that whenever you are around him, he tends to whistle. In a lot of ways, this is how he relieves the tension of being around you. As long as he can whistle, he can direct his focus to something else so that he doesn't get so nervous.

14. Gives You A Special Nickname

He has a special nickname that no one else calls you. It is typically a nickname that only you would understand. It may have come about because of something personal that you told him about your past or because of something important that you have shared with him. He calls you this nickname to make you feel good and to let you know that he shares something with you that no one else does.

15. Volunteers To Help You

He always seems so willing to volunteer his help. You may need to have something picked up from the post office or you may be in need of a ride somewhere and he automatically volunteers to help you without you even asking him. This is how he shows you that he is attracted to you and wants you to understand that he is willing to show it through his actions.

16. Defends You

You may be having a hard time with someone who always seems to find ways to argue with you or discredit you. He takes it upon himself to defend you whenever this person attacks you. He is attracted to you and thereby he feels as though any attack on your character is an attack on him. He wants you to know that you have him as your support at all times.

17. Cooks For You

He may not be the best cook or may not even cook all that much. However, he tends to cook for you from time to time. He takes out the time to prepare something that he knows you love. This is how he shows you that he is deeply attracted to you and he wants to appeal to your sense of taste. He hopes that by preparing delicious meals for you, you will be able to start opening up to him and like him.

18. Remembers Details From Past Conversations

It may not always be the most profound details but he still remembers them. He just has this habit of remembering details about what you tell him in past conversations. He can almost recreate the exact scene that you were describing to him in a past conversation and repeat what you said almost verbatim. He is trying to show you that he was really paying attention to what you told him and that he wasn't taking what you were saying lightly.

19. Relates

He uses any opportunity he can to relate to you in some way. You may have told him about something that happened to you in your past and he instantly draws a parallel with a similar experience that he had in his own life. You may talk about something that you love to do for fun and he tells you that he does the same thing and would love to engage with you in the future in order to do it together. He will find ways to relate to you because he wants you to feel like you both have a lot in common.

20. Works Out

He may not have been that much into going to the gym and working out but he suddenly is. This is especially relevant when he knows that you are the kind of girl who is into fitness. All of a sudden he starts telling you about his recent work-out routine and you are initially surprised because you didn't think that he was the kind that went to the gym at all. He does this in order to impress you and hopefully build his body to a point where you really start taking more notice of him.

21. Talks About You To His Friends

He can't help but talk about you to his friends. If you have mutual friends with him, you may hear from one or more of them from time to time about how he constantly talks about you when they are all hanging out or in conversation. They may tell you about all the good things that he has to say about you and how excited he seems to get whenever he is talking about you.

22. Asks If You Have A Boyfriend

He is asking if you have a boyfriend because he is hoping that you don't. As you interact with him from time to time, you may notice that he brings this subject up. He may do it in a subtle way so that he doesn't give too much away about how he feels about you but it is still a question that he poses to you. He just wants to ensure that you are available so that he can either use that opportunity to ask you out or spend some more time building rapport with you before he does.

23. Gets More Active On Social Media

He probably knows that you are on social media a lot. He may not really be the type who gets really into social media. He may post a photo from time to time but he never really goes too far. However, his activity on social media is so much more consistent now. He is posting and interacting more frequently. He will often post something that has to do with something relevant that you may understand. This way he sends the subtle message that he knows you are watching.

24. Hangs Out At Your Hang Out Spots

You may have never or rarely seen him at a particular spot in town that you tend to hang out in with your friends. However, you are now noticing him in this area a whole lot. He shows up with his friends and you realize that he always seems to be looking around as if to find where you are. He wants you to know that he is there and he hopes that he will be able to interact with you at some point during this period.

25. Friend Starts Talking To You

You may not know his friends at all. However, some of them seem to be making attempts to talk to you. They may start engaging in small talk with you in the hallway or they may start coming to your work to interact with you as a customer. You just notice that his friends are taking a keen interest in talking to you when you barely existed in their world before this. This is how he gets his friends to go out and get a sense of who you are or who you like so that they can come back and report to him.

26. Friend Gives You His Number

He isn't so sure about how you feel about him and hence has been unable to build up the courage to ask you for your number. He decides to use his friend to do it. His friend figures out a way to ask you for your number without necessarily letting you know that he is doing it for him. This is how he gets access to your number and he hopes that one day he will have enough courage to use it.

27. Personally Invites You To His Social Events

He actually takes out the time to do this instead of sending you a card or just having a friend invite you. He may call you, talk to you face to face, text you or even send you a private message through social media or email. He puts a personal touch on these invites because he is really hoping that you show up. This is how he shows his personal investment in this whole process and the fact that he is really attracted to you.

28. Gentleman

He goes out of his way to be a gentleman to you in a way that he isn't with other girls. He may hold doors open for you while smiling at you. He may pull a seat for you so that you can sit comfortably before he goes to his own. He may hold an elevator door for you and let you go in first. He does all these things because he is hoping that you realize just how much respect he has for you. He also wants you to get the sense of how he would treat you if you were both in a relationship.

29. Kind To Your Friends

He goes out of his way to be kind to your friends to the point where they can't help but sing praises about him to you. He may help out a friend of yours with an errand they had to run or he may give a friend of yours some tips on how to get something fixed, etc. He just has this habit of constantly helping out your friends with no expectation of reward. He is hoping that all the good things that he is doing for them will get back to you and you will be impressed by that.

30. Loves Your Pet

If you have a pet, he goes out of his way to be loving and kind to it. You may have a cat and he is not that keen on cats in general. However, he makes an effort to play with the cat and be really loving to it because he knows that the cat means a lot to you. He will do this with whatever pet you have. He knows that if he can show you just how much he cares about your pet, you will be more open to let him into your life. Being that he is attracted to you, this is really what he wants from you.

31. Engages In Dangerous Activities

He may feel that by being dangerous he will get your attention. You start noticing that he is doing more activities that may cause physical harm. Perhaps he gets into dirt-bike riding or he starts bungee jumping or even skydiving. He may post some of these activities on his social media pages so that you get to see them. He may have some of his friends talk about these activities when they are in your vicinity so that you hear about them. This is how he hopes to get your attention and show you his attraction.

32. Patient

He is unusually patient with you. You may be in the habit of showing up late to events where you both planned to meet and yet he doesn't get mad. You may even take a while to return some of his texts or phone calls and he doesn't get mad either. He just has this habit of being incredibly patient with you when in fact most people would have taken offence to these. He does this because he is more attracted to you than ever and he doesn't need to get mad as long as you show up or return his message.

33. Compromise

He is always willing to compromise for you even when he may not really like engaging in whatever activity that you suggested. Perhaps you really enjoy going line dancing and he has never been into it. However, he shows this amazing amount of enthusiasm to do it with you even though you still have a sense that he has never done it before or isn't fond of it. This is how he compromises with you because he just wants to be around you as much as he can.

34. Quick To Apologize

He may have actually been completely in the right about something and yet he apologizes to you because he worries that he may have offended you. He has a habit of apologizing because he just wants everything to go smoothly with you. He may have said a swear word without thinking as he was talking about something and he apologizes for it. He may have arrived five minutes late for a meet-up and apologizes for that. He just has a habit of apologizing because he really wants to be in your good graces.

35. Readily Available

He will be there for you when you need someone to talk to or is readily available if you want to hang out. He may have even had plans to do something with his friends or family but he decides to cancel it just so that he can be there for you or with you. He has put you as his priority because he is attracted to you. Thereby, you will notice several of these instances where he makes himself available to you without notice.

36. Includes You In His Future Plans

You may notice that he often talks about certain plans that he has for his future and from time to time he uses the word, "we." He does this automatically in his speech because he is seeing that future with you in it. This is how he is showing you that his attraction for you is strong. He is actually visualizing what it would be like to be with you in the future as he goes about accomplishing his plans.

37. Talks About Family

He knows that family is important to you and thereby he makes it a point to talk about the relationship he has with his own family. He will typically tell you about the family members that he is close to. If you notice that he keeps mentioning his mom in these discussions, he is trying to get you to see that he has a close relationship with his mom. His hope is that you will be impressed by these close family relationships and feel that you both have similarities in the importance you place on family.

38. Looks You Up And Down

He may be perfectly fine with being obvious about this and do it right to your face or he may be a little bit more subtle about it and do it while you aren't facing him. Either way, he will often look you up and down while you are there because he is admiring what he sees. He wants to take you all in and just relish the moment. He hopes that at some point you will be able to give him the same kind of attention.

39. Leans In

He likes to lean in when he talks to you because he wants you to know that you have his undivided attention. When he leans in, he is doing so to ensure that you keep going with the conversation because he doesn't want to miss any word you say. He is attracted to you and is trying to get you to become so comfortable with him as you talk that you open yourself up to him increasingly.

40. Cocks His Head At You

This is another way that he is showing you that you have his undivided attention. When he cocks his head at you as you interact with him, he is showing that he is completely in that moment with you. He wants to hear everything you have to say. He also wants you to get a good look at his strong jaw line and feel like he is a guy you would want to get to know because he is drawing focus to a body part that typically conveys strength.

41. Puts Down His Exes

He may tell you some sob stories about his ex girlfriends. He may tell you about how verbally abusive some were or how one or more may have cheated on him. He does this in order to make you feel sympathy for him. He is also hoping that you tell him that you have always been a good girlfriend to your boyfriends of the past. This way he has established that you are most likely single and that you have had good relationships.

42. Long Hugs

He hugs you over a sustained period of time that goes beyond the norm. Most people in platonic relationships hug for a short while and then release. However, he holds on to you for a while. He does it long enough to eventually break without letting it get too far. He knows that he is attracted to you and wants to send you the message that he is. By hugging you longer than the norm, he hopes that you get the message and that you feel safe around him.

43. Watches Your Events

Perhaps you tend to be in events that people come to watch. You may be in sports or deliver speeches. You may be an artist who exhibits her paintings to the public or sells them at the local market. You may be a local performer in the acting theatre downtown. You may be a community organizer of some sort and the list goes on. He seems to come to your events and typically ensures that you know he is there. He may come over to you after it is done or wave at you from a distance.

44. Gives You The Benefit Of The Doubt

He just sides with your side of the story without ever really trying to delve into your reasoning. Perhaps you tell him about an argument you recently had with a friend and you give him your side of the story. He agrees with you and doesn't attempt to even consider the other side of the story. As far as he is concerned, you are in the right. This is how he gives you the benefit of the doubt without question. He hopes that he is showing you that he is always on your side and will always have your back.

45. Talks For Hours Over The Phone

He has no trouble talking to you for hours over the phone. You will notice that he does this on a regular basis. He may even be tired or may need to go to bed so that he can get up early for work the next day but he never seems to care. He can talk to you for hours on the phone and be completely invested in what is being discussed. He is taking in every word and even asking you follow up questions about what you say. He is showing that he is really attracted to you and wants to savor everything that you tell him.

46. Talks For Hours In Person

He has no trouble talking to you in person for hours on end as well. He may even be the kind who wants to consistently be the last one to leave the restaurant where you both met for your date. He is cherishing every moment with you and wants so badly to learn as much about you as he can. This is how she shows that he is attracted to you and wants to be with you.

47. Gets Jealous

You may have lots of guy friends and you notice that he tends to ask you about them and what kind of relationship you have with them. You may work with a lot of guys at your job and while in discussion later that day after you have gotten off work, he may ask you about the relationship status of some of them. This is how he tries to ensure that you aren't interested in these guys and they are hopefully not pursuing you. He gets to be jealous but tries not to make it too obvious.

48. Wants To Travel With You

Travelling together is one of the most intimate experiences you can have with someone that you are attracted to. If you notice that he is constantly asking you to travel somewhere with him, it means that he is attracted to you and wants to have a personal experience with you where it is just the both of you. He believes that this will get the both of you a lot closer to one another and he will be able to start getting you to let your guard down with him.

49. Jokes About Getting Married

He may talk to you from time to time about what he thinks it would be like being married. He does this in general terms at first. He may even talk about some of the strong marriages that he has witnessed in his life. Perhaps that of his parents or some of his friends. He does this because he wants you to start thinking about him as someone that you can see yourself being with over the long-term and someone who is serious about relationships.

50. Gives You Gifts

He loves giving you gifts completely out of nowhere. He may give you a combination of expensive gifts and smaller, more thoughtful gifts. He does this because he wants you to feel good. He also wants you to understand that you are someone that he really holds dear. You are apart from everyone else. You are special. If you start understanding that and letting him in, he hopes that you will one day show just how much you are attracted to him as well.

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD MORE EBOOKS.

DatingLogic.net