

50 Ways To Know He Has Feelings For You

By

Dating Logic

1. Makes Time For You

He often makes time for you even when it may inconvenience him. He may have had a meet-up planned with his friends but he ends up talking to you or hanging out with you instead. He makes this kind of time for you because he wants you to know that he has feelings for you and you are truly important to him.

2. Compliments You

He will often want to make you feel good. By giving you constant compliments, he is showing that he truly cares about how you feel about yourself. He will compliment both your physical attractiveness as well as your personality. This is how he gets you to know that he has feelings for you and wants you to really feel good about yourself.

3. Gets To Know Your Friends

He may not have that much in common with your friends. However, he tries his best to truly get to know them. He wants them to feel like he is someone that is good for you and will treat you well. It is important to him that your friends have a good perception of him. By getting to know them, he is essentially getting to know you because your friends are an extension of you.

4. Long Hugs

He hugs you for an extended period of time because he wants to keep you close. He isn't giving you the traditional quick hug and release like most people in platonic relationships would do. He is giving you hugs that last a while and keeps you incredibly close to him. He is showing you that he has feelings for you and he wants you to feel safe.

5. Gets To Know Your Family

By putting real effort into getting to know your family, he is showing that he truly cares about where you came from and what your background is. He really wants to get at the root of what makes you who you are. You may even notice him telling you about how similar you are to this or that person in your family. He has already observed and interacted with them and he now feels a much stronger idea of the kind of person you are.

6. Makes You Laugh

He is invested in putting a smile on your face every time he sees you. As a result, he makes a real effort to make you laugh when he is interacting with you. He knows that certain things that he says tend to make you laugh so he keeps repeating them. He is showing just how important it is to him that you are happy and enjoying his company.

7. Gives You Gifts

He tends to give you all kinds of gifts. His gifts range from pricy to non-pricy. However, what you will always notice is that he puts a lot of thought into his gifts. You may have told him about something that you really like while in conversation and the next time you see him, he has gotten it for you. He will find ways to give you these meaningful gifts because he is invested in your happiness.

8. Includes You In His Future

You notice that whenever he talks about the future, he tends to include you in it. It may be a trip that he has planned or something that he wants to achieve in his life. He always seems to say "we" instead of solely focusing on himself. This is how he shows you that he sees you in his future and he really wants to share it with you.

9. Introduces You To His Family

Introducing you to his family is typically a sign that you mean a lot more to him than just a frivolous or meaningless relationship. He really wants you to see that he cares about you and that he wants his family to be around you. These are the people that he cares about most in the world and now he is putting you around them. He wants more than anything to have all of you get along.

10. Defends You

He is often defending you whenever someone may be saying something unkind about you. He really puts it upon himself to do this because he feels like an attack on you is essentially an attack on him. He doesn't want anyone to say bad things about you and believe that it is okay. He is showing his devotion to you and his desire to let you know that you are both in this together.

11. Touches You

By touching you often, he is trying to create a deeper connection with you. He knows that by touching you, he can be in that moment and just experience it with you. He may lightly touch you on your arm, thigh, back, etc. He does this continuously as you both interact. This is how he gets to show you the tender side of him that truly has feelings for you.

12. Loves Your Hobbies

He has a way of wanting to know more about your hobbies and what you love to do for fun. This is not just a general mention in passing. This is a lot more than that. He wants to know how you started it and what made you fall in love with the hobby in the first place. He wants to experience that hobby with you and shows a strong amount of excitement whenever you talk about it as if it was his own hobby.

13. Shows Interest In Your Beliefs

You may have a certain way that you look at the world or a certain viewpoint. He makes it a point to truly show interest in what you believe. He asks you questions about it and really tries to delve into what makes it such an important belief to you. He is considering what you are saying and he may even be entertaining the idea of learning more about that belief in his own personal time.

14. Nonjudgmental

He knows that you aren't perfect. After all, no one is. However, he is absolutely content and happy being with you regardless of your faults or imperfections. In fact, in a lot of ways, it's your faults and imperfections that make you all that more interesting and appealing to him. You may not like a certain thing or characteristic about yourself, but to him, you are all the more amazing for it. He just doesn't cast any judgment on you and accepts you wholeheartedly.

15. Talks About His Insecurities

Most guys are worried about letting their guard down to a girl and telling her about their insecurities. On the other hand, he has no trouble doing this with you. He tells you about things that worry him or that he may be fearful of. This is how he really opens up to you and lets his guard down. By doing this, he is showing that he truly trusts you and has profound feelings for you.

16. Gets Silly

He has no trouble goofing off around you or getting silly because he has reached a level of comfort with you that makes him willing to. He knows that doing so doesn't necessarily make him look so appealing but he doesn't care. He just feels loose and free around you. He is being silly to release all that energy in him. He may act something out in an exaggerated manner or he may make all kinds of funny faces at you. He just wants to put a smile on your face and also show you how comfortable he feels around you.

17. Takes Your Advice

He doesn't just brush off the advice you give him. He actually makes a real effort to apply it to his life. This shows that he wasn't just listening to your advice with no intent of using it. He actually values your advice. He wants to have your influence in his own life because he believes that it will make it that much better. This is how he gets to show you how much your advice means to him and how deeply his feelings for you have gone.

18. Empathizes

He always knows when to empathize with you. You may have just had an experience in your life that is putting you down. He is able to let you know that he knows where you are coming from as he has also had that experience. You notice that he does this often. He will find ways to empathize with you in difficult situations so that you know that you are not alone in your experience. This is how he shows his emotional investment in you and how what you go through also affects him.

19. Sympathizes

Though he may not have had the same difficult experience that you are currently going through, he is still able to sympathize with you. He wants you to know at that moment that he is there for you and that he will be there for as long as you want him to. He makes a habit of showing this kind of sympathy for you when you are sharing a difficult experience with him because he wants you to know that you have his heart.

20. Supportive

He becomes like your cheerleader in a number of ways. There may be a goal that you have been wanting to accomplish and he is always there to support you and push you forward with words of encouragement. He just wants you to know that he is there for you and he is your rock. You may have a challenging project that you are working on right now and he is constantly the one who encourages you and tells you to just keep going. He is your support because he has true feelings for you.

21. Helpful

He has no trouble going out of his way to be helpful in whatever you need help with. You may need some help painting your place or fixing something and he is there to help you. You may need some help with running an errand or picking something up and he volunteers his help to you. He just has this way of constantly being reliable when you need a helping hand. This is how he shows that he has feelings for you and wants you to understand that.

22. Communicates Consistently

He doesn't take days to reply to your texts and phone calls. He has a nature of replying to them promptly on the day of. He also initiates communication often. He calls you often. He texts you often. He emails you often. He sends you messages on social media often. He will use whatever medium that you both prefer the most to communicate with you on a regular basis. He wants to keep that channel of communication open with you because you are in his thoughts constantly.

23. Loyal

He does everything in his power to be loyal to you. An ex girlfriend may have come back into his life wanting him to give her another chance. He tells her that he isn't interested and he continues to focus on you instead. His friends may be used to taking a lot of his time but he cuts that time short because he knows that he wants to be with you and have your company. He is loyal because he has feelings. He doesn't want to risk losing you and have you feel like he isn't totally dedicated to you.

24. Travel

He wants to travel with you more and more. This is a way for him to really get to have an experience with only you. This is intimate and powerful. It is like going on an adventure with someone special. You will both be able to have these unique experiences to share with each other and that is so special. By wanting to travel with you often, he is showing that he wants to have these special moments with you where it is just the both of you having an amazing adventure together.

25. Gets Better

He knows that you are often telling him about how much better he could be if he just practiced that guitar more often or if he went on the field and threw that ball more often. She knows that you are passionate about these things and lets you know how much better you can be. This is when you start practicing more because you really want to get better. You also want to show her that she was right. You just get better at something, whatever it is, because she has given you that kind of drive.

26. Kiss

He has a habit of kissing you more and more. It is not always the traditional kiss. He may kiss you briefly on the lips before he heads out to do something. He may kiss you on the forehead without you expecting it. He may kiss your arm or shoulder. He just finds ways to kiss you in whatever way he can because this is how he gets to show you just how fond of you he is. His feelings for you are strong and he needs to show it through kissing you in every which way.

27. Hand Holding

He is the one who starts initiating hand holding. You may have been the one who initially started it but now he is the one who is doing that. This is how he shows that he wants you to know that he cares. He can't help but hold you and show the world that you are his partner. He just wants to feel that level of security when he is with you.

28. Always Laughs At Your Jokes

He has never gotten tired of laughing at your jokes. He knows that they aren't always funny and yet he laughs anyway. It really doesn't matter to him. He just wants to laugh and feel that amazing energy that it gives him. He wants to be there with you and experience your happiness. He wants to let you know how happy and giddy you make him.

29. Makes You Things

He may make you something that he knows you will use. Perhaps he makes a CD compilation for you filled with some of your favorite music or he makes a piece of furniture. He may even go as far as building your back porch for you. He makes you these things because he gets pleasure from doing it and thereby making you realize just how much you mean to him. All he envisions while he makes them is your smiling face or the excitement that you show him out of your gratitude. He lives for that moment.

30. Rearranges His Schedule

He may have had something planned until you called him asking him for a favor. He knows that this will interfere with his prearranged plan but he goes ahead and rearranges his schedule. He may have to make a few phone calls in the process but he does it anyway. This may seem like an inconvenience but to him, you are totally worth it.

31. Prioritizes You

He has a habit of ensuring that he makes time for you first before even considering making time with anyone else. You will notice that you are often the first person that he will hang out with on his free time before anyone else, including friends or family. You may even notice that he doesn't seem to make any major decisions before running it by you first. He is showing that you have become a priority in his life and he wants you to understand what that means to him.

32. Listens

He is always very keen on listening to everything you have to say even when you feel like you may be boring him. You may even tell him that you are worried that you are boring him and he replies that you aren't and you should keep talking. He just loves listening to you. It's not just about what you are saying but also the sound of your voice. He wants to listen to it for as long as possible because it makes him feel so good.

33. Undivided Attention

Many guys can easily get distracted with what is going on around them as they interact with you. He never does. He is always locked in to the experience he is having with you. It is almost like you are the only person in the room or in his world at that moment. This is how he shows you that you are special to him and you are certainly worth his undivided attention.

34. Makes Fun Of You

He knows that he can't take everything so seriously all the time. He makes fun of you in a lighthearted way from time to time because he wants to make you smile and also show you that he loves being able to just have fun banter with you. This is what helps to lighten the mood between you and he knows that you both have to have these moments in order to keep the fun of the relationship alive.

35. Makes Fun Of Himself

He also has no trouble making fun of himself. He knows that it can't all be one-sided. If he is going to lightheartedly make fun of you, he is most certainly going to lightheartedly make fun of himself as well. He really wants you to understand that he is a fun guy and he wants to infuse some happy energy into the relationship. This is how he shows that he may be looking at the relationship for the long-term and thereby wants to keep it fun and lighthearted.

36. Engages In Brand New Activities With You

He doesn't just stick with the safe events or activities. This is where so many people stay because it is comfortable and doesn't ask too much of them. However, in his case, he makes it a point to try brand new activities with you. He does activities with you that he has never engaged in. Thereby, he has no idea how they will turn out. However, he is willing to take that risk with you and just wants you to understand that he wants to experience these new activities for the first time with you.

37. Values Your Opinion

He may have a truly strong belief in something but he always seems to want to get your take on it. Even if you were to have the exact opposite view to his, he still respects and values your opinion. He doesn't suddenly take offence to your honest opinion or to what you believe. He has this way of truly valuing and even considering your opinion even if it completely differs from his own.

38. Excited In Your Company

There is a genuine level of excitement that you notice whenever he is in your company. It never feels like he is just on another date with you. He truly always seems to be genuinely excited whenever he is with you and about to do something with you. This is how he shows that he truly looks forward to these moments. Indeed, hanging out with you may be the highlight of his entire week.

39. Talks For Hours Over The Phone

He has no trouble talking to you for hours over the phone even though he isn't necessarily the talkative type. You notice that he will spend hours talking to you on the phone and seems to be perfectly comfortable with it. Even if he doesn't do that much talking during these moments because he isn't the talkative type, he still listens to you and responds to what you have to say.

40. Takes Your Side

He loves taking your side on things even if you may not always be in the right. He knows that you mean well and that you have conviction. By taking your side on things, he feels that he is showing you that he is truly at your corner. He doesn't want you to ever doubt the fact that he believes in you and is willing to stand by you.

41. Remembers Small Details From Conversations

You may have talked to him a few weeks ago and during that conversation you mentioned a small detail. You realize that weeks later, he has brought up that small detail as a topic of discussion. You are amazed because you don't even remember mentioning it. It could be something you mentioned about an event that happened in your past, etc. He remembers it. When he is able to bring up these small details in future conversations with you, he is showing how meaningful your words are to him.

42. Regularly Grooms Himself

He may not have been the kind who cared too much about grooming himself on a regular basis. However, you notice that he is now taking out the time to consistently get his hair cut every two weeks or keep his beard trimmed or have his nails clean and manicured. He just seems to be making more of an effort to keep himself groomed and thereby appealing to you. This is how he lets you know that he has feelings for you because he cares about what you think of his appearance.

43. Joins Your Course

You may have a course that is dear to your heart. Perhaps you like to go on marathons that help raise money for children or research. He has never been involved in any of these courses and yet he is now taking a keen interest in them. He may tell you about what he is learning about it and may ultimately ask you what he can do to help. Perhaps he decides to contribute some money to the course or even go on a marathon alongside you.

44. Follows You On All Social Media

He may not have always been the most energetic member of the social media community. However, he is now making real effort to participate by following you on all your social media platforms. He just wants to keep being a part of your life in more ways than one. He knows that you love social media and he just wants you to feel like he is with you.

45. Opens New Social Media Accounts

He may have only been on one social media account or none. Now that he has seen how involved you are in social media, he has taken the initiative to open new social media accounts. This is how he gets to placate you and also show you that he is invested in his relationship with you. He will do what it takes to let you see that he wants to be a part of your life. He wants you to communicate with him as much as possible and knowing that social media is your space, he is willing to go there.

46. Likes More And More Of Your Posts

He has no issue with constantly liking what you put up on your social media platforms. The moment you post something, he is the first person liking it and perhaps even leaving a comment here and there. He has essentially become your number one fan. He wants you to see what he is doing because he knows that it will make you realize how dedicated he is to you.

47. Remembers And Celebrates Anniversaries

He is not shy about doing this. He is often the one who will remind you about a particular day and what that day means to you. It could be the day that you both first met. It could also be something that doesn't relate to the both of you as a couple. Perhaps the day that you received your pet animal that you love so much or the day you graduated college. He remembers these days and wants to celebrate them with you when those anniversaries come around in the future.

48. Celebrates Your Birthday Privately

He really does want to give you something special for your birthday. Though you may have had a general party where all your friends and family showed up, he also wants to do something private with you. He may take you somewhere that you absolutely love or surprise you with giving you an experience that you have never had. It is just the both of you. This is how he wants to celebrate this part of your special day. He cares for you and wants this moment to be shared by the both of you privately.

49. Mimics You

He knows that you have certain habits or certain ways in which you express yourself. You notice that he seems to be mimicking you. You may have a certain way that you walk and he starts mimicking that from time to time. You may have a particular word that you say that sounds a little bit different from the norm and he starts saying it. He just starts mimicking your mannerisms in a number of ways. This is how he shows how comfortable he has gotten with you and the fact that he accepts all of your quirks.

50. Surprises You

He has a way of just surprising you with things. He may have initially told you that you were going to be doing something in particular later that evening but when the time comes you discover that he had something a lot more interesting and exciting planned. He loves having these moments when he completely surprises you because he really loves the effect it has on you. He is looking forward to that look of shock and amazement. He goes through all this trouble because he has feelings for you.

CLICK HERE TO DOWNLOAD MORE EBOOKS.

DatingLogic.net